DLF is pleased to announce the Programme for the 20th Annual Moving & Handling People Conference

Moving & Handling People 2014 is aimed at health and social care professionals managing and providing hands-on practical care. The event enables practitioners to widen their experience and knowledge to deliver efficient, safe practice through improved performance and techniques.

Moving and handling practitioners require a range of skills and must often assess situations rapidly in less than ideal situations. Practitioners must feel confident in their assessments and recommended solutions, including the choice and application of equipment. M&HP 2014 will empower practitioners to make the right decisions in a range of situations.

Moving and handling risk assessments often involve engagement with informal carers, relatives and other professionals as well as the client. The interactive practical workshops will consider the process from assessment to hands-on techniques providing delegates with guidance to make reasoned decisions while also reviewing their own handling practices.

M&HP 2014 is the largest moving and handling equipment exhibition for professionals in the UK, featuring over 60 stands with its associated Professional Resource Centre and New Products Poster Gallery.

M&HP 2014 is an unmissable opportunity for you to be inspired and make lasting improvements in client and carer safety.

Benefits from attending Moving & Handling People 2014:

- CPD-accredited professional update for practitioners
- Expert analysis and solutions from leading practitioners
- Detailed review of safe practices and use of equipment for different client groups and situations
- Sharing best practice through peer review
- Largest product exhibition for manual handling professionals in the UK
- Be first to see new products in the market
- One year's free access to an information portal of equipment for moving and handling people

All these benefits make M&HP 2014 essential for your continuing professional development.

Educational Programme

Moving & Handling People 2014 is a CPD accredited event focussing on positive solutions for practitioners and clients.

The event is designed to support personal learning aims, providing up to date information and guidance. All delegates are encouraged to bring along questions to ask and discuss in the presentations and workshops. The event timetable ensures delegates can attend all conference sessions and the exhibition – maximizing your learning experience.

Learning Outcomes

- Be able to implement a client assessment and understand the importance of safety and risk management in the organisation
- Better understanding of optional appraisal of equipment
- Identify safety issues when choosing and using equipment to move and handle people loads
- New practical skills for a range of techniques and uses of equipment
- Audit your own practice and that of your organisation
- Market awareness of suppliers and products available
- Use of different assessment tools in client management

Why attend?

“Seeing new equipment and hearing the latest ideas in the field enable me to update the training and advice I deliver”

Jill Grimley, Leicestershire County Council

Continuing Professional Development (CPD) – supporting your learning

This event will contribute to your CPD through a series of Plenary & Concurrent Sessions, Interactive Workshops, Open Forum and the comprehensive exhibition which includes a Professional Resource Centre and New Products Poster Gallery all of which are designed to enhance your event experience, knowledge and practical skills. Delegates are requested to complete an evaluation form to submit when they leave the conference.

Delegates can download their Certificate of Attendance following the event and use it to record personal learning objectives and achievements as a permanent record of their CPD.

Why attend?

“An abundance of questions answered under one roof”

Stephanie Harding, University of Southampton
NHS Foundation Trust

Why attend?

“To acquire further knowledge and practical skills which are at the forefront of current manual handling activities/procedures and to add growth and depth to CPD”

Alarice Biggar, Guys & St Thomas NHS Trust

Pre-conference New Products Evaluation Workshops

This optional half day on 29 January will feature new equipment, emerging products in development and bespoke moving and handling equipment in two workshops to allow delegates to:

- Get ‘hands on’ with new products launched at the event
- Work in small groups for a conducive learning environment
- Discuss bespoke equipment with suppliers and facilitators
- Vote on ‘Best New Product’ and enter a free prize draw, to win a place at the 2015 conference

Four Practical Interactive Workshops

- Enhance your knowledge, practical skills and application of equipment
- Peer review and audit your risk management practices
- Discuss practical solutions to real-life situations

The individualised timetable allows for delegates to attend all four workshops. The allocated exhibition viewing time, preceding the workshops, means delegates can view products and equipment useful for promote safe moving and handling.

Pre-conference New Products Evaluation Workshops 29 January 2014

Moving and handling assessments often identify types of products to promote safe work activities. Further trial may be necessary to determine the 'best' product and, in some cases, where bespoke equipment is necessary. It is important for practitioners to know which (and where) products are available and at the best possible price. These workshops are designed to expose delegates to new products and the opportunity to contribute to the latest thinking in product development and bespoke services. Many suppliers take the opportunity to launch products at the event.

Delegates should discuss with their procurement departments the attendance of their purchasing managers to view products and to arrange demonstrations and trials in their organisations.

The half day programme incorporates refreshment breaks during which delegates can view and discuss additional products displayed in the New Products Display Area adjacent to these workshops. Delegates attending the workshops are invited to vote on 'Best New Product' and entries will go into a prize draw to win a place at the 2015 conference.

Please note – products included in the New Products Evaluation Workshops will not be included in the main conference workshops

Sally Ann Wiseman, Worksafe T&C Ltd

Main Programme: Day One – 30 January 2014

09.10 – 09.40 Plenary Session 1:

Legislation – implications for moving and handling practice

Where is legislation taking moving and handling practice in Health and Social Care and what are the implications for practitioners following on from the Carers Support Bill and associated legislation and professional guidance?

Speaker – Susan Clayton,
Manual Handling Trainer & Adviser, TCR

Why attend?

“To build on my knowledge to give staff members in my trust more information and ideas to keep them safe.”

Charlotte Gordon, NHFT – NHS

Day Two – 31 January 2014

08.55 – 09.25 Plenary Session 2:

Consent, Dignity and Safeguarding – issues and implications for processes and practice

Safeguarding the interests of the individual requiring assistance or complete intervention. Application of the right technique or use of equipment requires consent and this is an important issue facing professionals when moving and handling people. Care must be delivered in a way which preserves their dignity and safety. Due to the clients health or ability to understand information, this presentation will provide thought for discussion and guidance for moving and handling practitioners.

Speaker – Michael Mandelstam,
Independent Legal Trainer, Health and Social Care

Introductory Session:

Introduction to the Practical Interactive Workshops

Speaker – Simon Wells,
Programme Organiser on behalf of DLF

Concurrent Sessions

Concurrent Session 1: Empowerment from experience

Following a review of moving and handling incidents where harm has occurred, how can we learn from the outcomes and empower practitioners to improve practice?

Speaker – Donna Forsyth, Associate Director Patient Safety (Investigation & Training), NHS England

Concurrent Session 2:

Assessing and improving work postures

Working postures are a key factor in developing work related musculoskeletal injury. Use and review of generic assessments can reduce WRULD and back pain – so what is good posture?

Speaker – Clare Henson, Senior Occupational Health Physiotherapist in Occupational Health, Occupational Health and Wellbeing, Kings College Hospital NHS Trust

Concurrent Session 3:

Option appraisal of moving and handling products

A key skill for moving and handling practitioners is appraisal of equipment to assist with client moving and handling. There are many suppliers and similar products available so how do you choose which is the most appropriate?

Speaker – Anita Rush, Clinical Nurse Specialist Berkshire Community Equipment Services

Concurrent Session 4:

Risk assessment identifying the best option for moving and handling the client in the health and social care setting

Moving and handling risk assessment is designed to identify safe solutions to empower the practitioner to explore a range of solutions – how do you decide which is best?

What are the key skills we need to empower carers with to assess clients?

Speaker – Carole Johnson, Freelance Moving & Handling Adviser

Open Forum – empowerment through discussion

A new session to explore everyday moving and handling issues and solutions

A facilitated practical hands on session for delegates to peer review their own moving and handling solutions with their peers, colleagues, facilitators and suppliers. Equipment will be provided to allow delegates to try out techniques they have developed and those they would like to discuss with others. Suppliers will be invited to join delegates and take part in this session providing an open discussion forum for all to discuss practical solutions.

Facilitated session

- Sally Cassar, Freelance Moving & Handling Consultant
- Judy Green, Principal Back Care Advisor Back Care Advisory Team Manager
- Geraldine Perry, Freelance Moving and Handling Advisor
- Simon Wells, Moving & Handling Advisor, KCH NHS Trust
- Evelyn Eotunbade, Manual Handling Adviser, Ealing PCT

Why attend?

“To broaden my knowledge and understanding of products able to meet the needs of a diverse community”

Julie Ball, West Sussex County Council

Practical Interactive Workshops

These workshops are provided to allow delegates to audit their individual practice and develop new ideas based on sharing information and experiences with the facilitators and their peers.

Workshop 1:

Transferring people – focussing on the solution

Transferring people from dependent to limited ability from supine and sitting to:

- The floor
- Standing
- In/out of vehicles
- In/out of buildings

Facilitators

- Sara Thomas, Moving & Handling Advisor
- Tracey Shepherd, Freelance Moving & Handling Advisor
- Sara Wright, Freelance Moving & Handling Consultant
- Lanre Nehan Babalola, Moving & Handling Practitioner

Workshop 2:

Single handed care packages

Workshop based on providing guidance, techniques and solutions to carers where only one carer is available. Although for certain assisted activities a minimum of two carers would be recommended based on a risk assessment and limited resources – what can I do if I am on my own?

Facilitators

- Kay James, Independent Occupational Therapist
- Sarah Icton, Freelance Manual Handling Practitioner
- Sheenagh Orchard, Moving and handling specialist
- Rosemarie Scrutton, Moving and Handling Advisor

Why attend?

“To develop my knowledge and skills on complex moving and handling cases.”

Claire Jones, Suffolk County Council (CSD)

Workshop 3:

Use of assessment tools to identify suitable handling techniques and equipment

Assessment tools should be used by practitioners to assess the client's ability and identify resources and solutions. This workshop will work through the use of different assessment tools to compare and contrast the value of those available. Application in both Acute and Community settings will be considered.

Facilitators

- Carole Johnson, Freelance Moving & Handling Adviser
- Heather Hetherington, Manual Handling Consultant
- Pat Alexander, Consultant Moving and Handling Advisor
- Val Sage, Moving & Handling Advisor, Cambridgeshire Community Services NHS Trust & Freelance Moving & Handling Trainer & Advisor

Workshop 4:

Moving and handling interventions with equipment – people and load handling

This session is designed for delegates to review and audit their practice. The workshop will consider moving and handling solutions in all health and social care environments to encourage and empower delegates to develop interventions for situations where equipment is not immediately available. This should apply to both people and load handling activities.

Facilitators

- Lesley Purdie, Senior Back Care Advisor
- Anita Rush Clinical Nurse Specialist Berkshire Community Equipment Services
- Carole Griffith Senior Back Care Advisor and Health and Safety Training and Development Manager
- Rose Rudder, Moving and Handling Trainer

Please note that although the workshops offer delegates the opportunity to participate practically, they are not intended as training sessions.
